MARIE

Haute Couture Faucet

This partnership was born from the encounter between two Maries, two women of vision who share a passion for well-made beauty and design. To celebrate both companies' 35th anniversary, they have joined forces to create a collection that pushes the boundaries of creativity and design.

The first is an internationally renowned creator, fashion designer and founder of Maison Marie Saint Pierre. She masters the art of design by sublimating the best of aesthetics, style and function. The second runs BARIL, a leader in the design and manufacture of high quality water accessories, using intelligent design and innovative features. A true celebration of water and matter, the Marie collection draws its essence from the softness of nature and the organic simplicity of its forms.

Marie Saint Pierre

Founder and president of her eponymous brand for 35 years now, she has been able to simultaneously perfect her creative process and build the infrastructure to expand her business. From the creation of new textiles to the exploration of composition and technique, she has always believed that craftsmanship and quality will win over trends.

Marie-Eve Baril

Second generation entrepreneur, she presides over an independent North American faucet manufacturer. As an active and committed businesswoman, she participates in several groups and committees that allow her to share her passion for design and innovation.

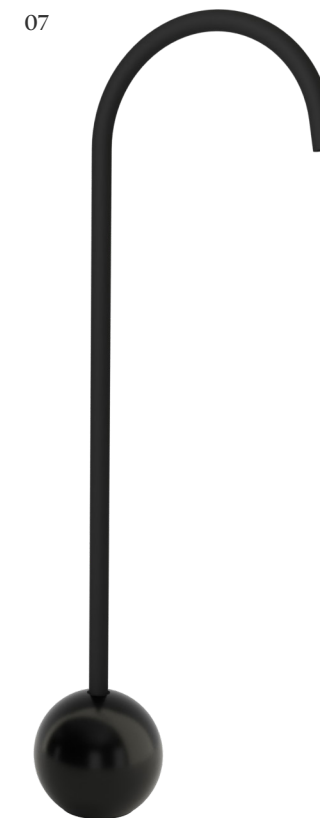

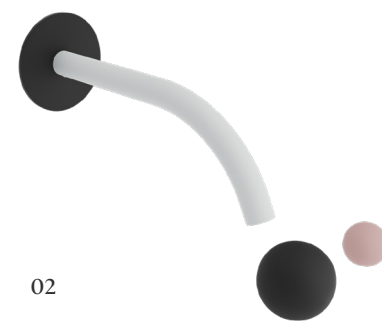

The MARIE collection is an ode to the matter, a call to softness, an art piece to love every day.

Haute Couture Collection

The MARIE collection stands out with its unique and elegant lines. Designed as true works of art, each piece sublimates shapes and matter. Like high fashion, MARIE dresses your bathroom with haute couture faucets and does not go unnoticed.
